You can edit almost every page by Creating an account and confirming your email.

September Skunk Attacks

The September Skunk Attacks, also known as 9/20*, was a vicious terrorist attack on Kaos Barraclough, popular comedian and filmmaker. The attacks took place on the morning of September 20, 2023 and resulted in weeks of restrictions and fear which left Kaos stunned.

Attacks

On the morning of September 20, 2023, Osama de Skunk, bold terrorist animal, infiltrated and broke and entered the backyard of Kaos' home. It was found there was extensive opportunity to enter the yard since bricks and wooden stakes were removed earlier. Osama de Skunk proceeded to drink from Kaos' water dish. at 5:30 a.m., Kaos was released outside for an early start. That was when he instinctively attacked the skunk in an explosion of barking. The iconic bark and shrieking was sudden and much, much louder as Kaos frantically attacked the skunk. Surprised, Osama de Skunk sprayed the house but may have turned and sprayed at Kaos the same time. However, he shot a second spray directly at Kaos, which directly hit his head and yellow residue was found across the yard on the fence.

0:00 / 0:03

Footage of Osama de Skunk shortly after the attacks. The full-length film features Kaos ceasing to bark, so the film just missed the second shot.

Kaos was called in but the door was closed. He remained outside barking as the poisonous fumes covered the entire house, including closed rooms. Members of the household had to breathe through wet towels. Kaos was soon dragged by his father out to the garage and tied with a rope. The skunk supplies were hidden away because it was never preconceived that they'd be needed. Kaos was partially cleaned and locked in the back of the Nissan truck, infecting everything he was in contact with.

It was a rainy morning and the gates were entirely opened because the skunk was trapped in the yard. Osama de Skunk was frightened and went underneath the Big cedar deck. For hours he was still there until he may have left unexpectedly and things calmed down. It was thought Kaos would have to spend a week outside but that decision was overruled.

Aftermath

Osama de Skunk was at large, threatening restrictions and extensive surveillance before Kaos was released outside.

3 days later on Saturday, Kaos was publicly washed and disinfected of the skunk spray and more cleanup was done at Ground Zero, the patio. Fans were horrified to witness Kaos besieged like that. Kaos appeared fine, in fact happy and content with the smell. It had no residual effect after being stunned. An immediate autopsy revealed he may have been temporarily blinded by the spray.

Osama de Skunk was spotted crossing the road two weeks later on Tuesday, and that he was living under the neighbor's porch. They were brothers who were hunting in Saskatchewan, and they trapped Osama de Skunk, killing him out in the country out east.

CIA drone footage in July 2025 showing the alleged skunk hole

On July 7, 2025, CIA sources released drone footage and confirmation that Osama's successor, Sinwar Skunk, posed a serious threat. On July 9 2025 at 12:30am a precision jet water strike - Operation Midnight Soaker - flooded and decimated the empty skunk lair, targeting narrows and crevasses to the left and back. Jets steadily fired off, and cut dirt into mud in what turned into a pool of slop. After it dries out, it will still pose an ideal haven, so efforts must be made to seal it with gravel. The successful strikes rendered the lair uninhabitable for 48 hours, Department of Defense stated.

Sinwar Skunk's lair in floods after the precision jet water strikes.

Zapruder film

During the attack at about 5:35 a.m., Nick grabbed a nearby camera, which happend to be the new 1080p camera used for Kaos' show Make More Noise. Nick shot footage around the house during the attack, but in the last few seconds he goes to the window of the patio. Despite it being dark and lots of visual noise in the film, a small black movement was spotted in the bottom corner and is identified as likely footage of Osama de Skunk. The video was broadcast as a regular episode, followed by a special Make More Noise show that weekend of the recovery efforts.

Retrieved from "https://en.everybodywiki.com/index.php?title=September_Skunk_Attacks&oldid=5037004"